

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

I am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight.

There is no hard evidence that cell phone use doesn't interfere with navigational instruments. The introduction of cell phone use in the cabin will not only increase tension among passengers, it will compromise flight attendants' ability to maintain order in an emergency. Cell phone use could also enable terrorists to coordinate a plan of action more effectively.

Further, for those of us who have to fly economically, these new small jets are designed like steerage. They are amazingly cramped, tall people duck when entering, and all the seats are always filled. There is no way people will be able to tolerate multiple conversations and keep their sanity on flights. Please - no one is so important that they cannot be incommunicado for a flight. Or as the French say - let them eat email!

Thank you.

Please leave the current rules in effect.

Sincerely,

Nancy Miller
